IN ORDER TO RECEIVE REWARD

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Endeavoring for his mother's benefit to collect the rewards offered in connection with murders and robberies planned and executed by himself and his "pals," Peter Niedermeyer spent Sunday in "winding up his business affairs," as he terms it. He hopes to secure for her $3,300. His calm announcement that he had held up a gambling house in Winnebago, Nev., shooting the proprietor and getting away with about $7,000, while amid the clang of bells the whole town was in uproarious pursuit, astounded the police, and the information that two of his followers, each as desperate as any now in custody, are still at large, caused them new anxiety.

Tells of Crimes.

After gaining the assurance of Captain Riley of the Chicago & Northwestern police that his mother would get the $500 reward offered in connection with the hold-up of the Clybourn Junction station and the wounding of George W. Lathrop, the ticket agent, and hinting that he knew more than he mentioned, he told of several crimes, the rewards for which foot up $3,300.

"I want to know that my mother will be cared for after I am hanged," said he. "I am guilty of crimes of which you know nothing" and for which innocent men are now suffering. There are rewards offered for my capture and conviction. If you will guarantee me that these rewards will go to mother, I will convict myself. I will confess crimes that will startle you."

He outlined the crimes he spoke of in a way that only one who was concerned in them could do. But he refused to divulge the names of his partners in crime, pending proof that his mother would get the reward.

Stage Coach Robbery.

By far the greater part of Niedermeyer's "estate," however, is very much in "Spain," for the rewards offered require the arrest and conviction of the criminals. About nine months ago, he says, he and a desperate still at liberty whom the police fear, held up a western stage coach near Butler, Nev., taking the strong box from the Wells-Fargo messenger.

The representative of the express company refused to give the reward to Mrs. Niedermeyer, but the bandit still believes he may get it. He declares that an innocent man is suspected of being his accomplice, and the police, fearing that the real highwayman may come unknown to Chicago and endeavor to free Niedermeyer, would like to see the reward paid. The same situation exists regarding the train hold-up at Edgewater.

His Greatest Exploit.

Niedermeyer's greatest exploit, according to his story told to Chief O'Neill, Assistant Chief Schuetzler, and Inspector Lavin was his single-handed capture of a gambling-house in Winnebago, Nev., shortly after the Butler job.

Edging around to be as near the "bank" as possible, Niedermeyer drew his two automatic revolvers, and, covering the roomful of armed men with one weapon, menaced the lookout with the other, ordering him to descend. Scarcely had he complied when the young bandit put away one gun and made a grab for a satchel of money. The proprietor started to run for the rear door at this, and Niedermeyer hit him in the back of the head, the bullet glancing. The man went down, but rolled to an alarm box, and, turning a switch, set a great gong on the corner to ringing.

Escapes With Money.

In the confusion Niedermeyer reached the rear door with the money; ran down a dark street to an alley; tore off his mask, and transferred the money, amounting, as he says he found later, to about $7,000, to his pockets; walked calmly among the excited inhabitants of the town, making a pretense of joining in the pursuit in order to get safely away. A reward of $1,000 for the capture of the highwayman is said to have been offered by the Winnemucca authorities.

Special Agent W. Riley of the Chicago and Northwestern railway promised him that Mrs. Niedermeyer should be given the reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the Clybourn station robbers after Niedermeyer detailed the robbery to them and exonerated Dolle of St. Louis, who is now under indictment.

Compliments Victim.

Night Operator M. E. Dougherty

and Ticket Agent George W. Lathrop, the victims of the robbers at the Clybourn station hold-up, were present during Niedermeyer's confession, going over with him in detail the robbery and the shooting.

"Lathrop, you put up the greatest fight of any man I ever met since I was in the business," said Niedermeyer.

"Well, it's hard to own up that I was mistaken when I identified the hand of Dolle as the one which shot me," Lathrop returned. "But I know now for certain that Dolle was not implicated and that you are the man."

After enacting the entire robbery as a play before Chief O'Neill, Inspector Lavin and Assistant Chief Schuetzler, Niedermeyer, showing where he stood and how he shot and wrestled with Lathrop, just as on the night of the robbery, Niedermeyer said to Special Agent Riley: "Now, how about that $500? You've seen the show. Does mother get it?"

Promise of Reward.

"Well, I want you to have it," said Riley, "but technically I don't see how you can get it. The reward is for the arrest and conviction. You didn't arrest yourself and I don't see how you can convict yourself."

"You deceived me," Niedermeyer began, when Chief O'Neill interrupted him.

"Don't worry now," Niedermeyer, said the chief. "You've had a promise. No one will commit a breach of faith. Mr. Riley, it's worth $500 to your company, this confession. It frees an innocent man under conviction. Niedermeyer should be shown some consideration."

"He will be," said Riley, as he left the station.

"Here's another little stick-up I happened to think of," said Niedermeyer, just before he went to his cell. "A fellow on Irving Park boulevard tried to beat me up one night a year ago. He said he'd lick me. I put a gun in his face and took about $2 away from him, and his watch."

Companion Kills Himself.

Niedermeyer detailed the Paducah (Ky.) hold-up perfectly, refusing to tell names, for the reason that none of the Illinois Central detectives were present. He offered to tell Special Agent O'Keefe the entire story of the daring robbery, and even show him the house in Kentucky where he hid after the robbery.

"I stalled the train alone," said Niedermeyer. "Then I entered the baggage car and threw out three sacks. Barnes grabbed one of them. I didn't get any, as I was lucky in getting away with my life. They found Barnes in a swamp with his throat cut. He had the razor in the hand that he committed suicide with."

"Before last May I spent three years in hold-ups and robberies outside of Chicago," he told Assistant Chief Schuetzler.

From the assertions of the "automatic trio" it is said by the police that more arrests will be made. Chief O'Neill asserted that there was a strong probability that Niedermeyer and Van Dine would tell of all their accomplices in other jobs. They have acknowledged that they had them."

Japanese Minister Has Been Fiercely
Attacked by Japanese Press.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 30.—Advices received from Tokyo by the steamer Athenian today say that the dragging of the Russo-Japanese negotiations and the manner in which Russia used the delay to continue aggressive tactics, the policy of provoking Japan having lately given place to pressure upon China, is causing considerable agitation in Japan.

Attacks against the delays in negotiations have lately concentrated in a charge that Marquis Ito is a Russophile, and after the publication of a strong memorial to the marquis by the anti-Russian union, whose delegations were refused an audience by Marquis Ito, the Nippon, an anti-Russian paper, on Nov. 10, suggested the assassination of Marquis Ito. The issue was prohibited by the authorities, but not before it had been widely circulated.

PRESIDENT IS AFTER GRAFTERS

Writes the Preface to the Report of the Fourth
Assistant Postmaster-
General.

TALK OF HEATH

He Denies That He Received
Any Bribe for Introducing Cancelling Machines.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Postal graft in all its hideousness has been laid bare in one of the most remarkable presidential documents ever published. President Roosevelt authorized Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who has charge of the investigation of the postoffice department, to make public the result of his work, and as a preface to the report writes a long memorandum epitomizing what has been accomplished and what will be done in the future.

Most intense public interest will be taken in the revelations made by Mr. Bristow regarding the connection of former First Assistant Postmaster General Perry S. Heath with some of the most sensational transactions.

Mr. Heath has not been connected with the department since July 31, 1900, when he resigned. The general impression has been "that Mr. Heath was not indicted because he was protected by the three years' statute of limitation. It now appears that in two instances his case was submitted to the district attorney for indictment, but that the district attorney decided that the evidence was not sufficient to justify the indictment of Mr. Heath."

Story of the Scandal.

It is stated in the report that the systems of organized corruption began in 1893, during President Cleveland's second administration, and continued until stopped by this investigation. Mr. Bristow estimates that the total amount which the perpetrators of these frauds themselves received will aggregate between $300,000 and $400,000. The loss to the government is many times in excess of that amount, but cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy.

Mr. Bristow points out that the Arnold & Co. had a right to pay for the mail and investment company alone defrauded the public out of more than $3,000,000, yet it only paid $5,000 to get it the privileges of the mails.

Places the Blame.

President Roosevelt has striven to place the blame for the conditions which prevailed where it belongs. He gives a list of the offenders, showing that all with one exception entered office before he succeeded to the presidency.

He shows that as soon as anything wrong was suspected an investigation was set on foot, which has resulted in the indictment of thirty-one persons.

He shows that Machen and Beavers and Tyner, the principal offenders, had been in office one and two decades.

President's Comment.

President Roosevelt in his statement commenting on the report assumes full responsibility for having ordered the investigation. Postmaster General Payne and Representative Loud decided in December, 1902, that it would be advisable to have an investigation of the service. With the knowledge of only two members of Congress an appropriation of $5,000 was made for that purpose. Subsequently various persons laid before the President information showing misconduct on the part of Machen and Beavers and the President decided that Assistant Postmaster General Bristow should make a thorough investigation of the entire department.

"Mr. Bristow's report," says the President, "is a record of as thorough a bit of investigating work as has ever been done under the government."

Cancelling Machine Deal.

One case in which Mr. Heath's name appears has to do with the adoption by the postoffice department of the Doremus cancelling machine. This was the company in which Senator George E. Green of Binghamton, N. Y., was interested. Six hundred and seventy-one of these machines were ordered by the government at a net cost of $143,475. H. J. Truesdale, who was formerly associated with Mr. Green in the company, stated that Green told him he had transferred to Mr. Heath $20,000 worth of the stock in consideration of receiving an order for not less than 300 machines. Truesdale says he contributed $5,000 of the stock to Green as his share of the amount to be given to Mr. Heath. He also stated that Doremus transferred $5,000 worth of stock in the same manner.

Denial by Heath.

Mr. Doremus denies any knowledge of the stock having been given to Mr. Heath, but states that he did contribute $5,000 to Green, "to be used for the best interests of the company."

CASING WEATHER IS MUCH NEEDED

IN ORDER THAT STRIPPING OF NEW TOBACCO MAY BEGIN.

DULL WEEK IN LEAF CIRCLES

No Large Transactions in Old Packings Recorded—Some Interesting Comments on the Crop.

Last week was a dull one in local tobacco circles. Some old leaf was moved but only in small lots. The buyers of the new leaf are still conspicuous by their absence and it is unlikely that any examination of the hanging crop will be made while the weather remains so dry. The sampling of last season's packings is about completed. Shipments out of storage from this region amounted to 15 carloads, 787 cases.

A Severe Arrangement
In a communication to the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter a buyer, whose name is withheld, reviews the tobacco situation in this state and makes some caustic criticisms of the methods alleged to have been employed in the past by certain growers. (Packers of leaf tobacco, he says, have been shamefully imposed upon in the last few years, and as a direct result have seen their prospective profits vanish like the morning dew.)

Nefarious Methods
Farmers are too careless and too penurious in preparing the crop for market. This was demonstrated in 1900 and repeated in 1902. Both seasons the crop grew spready, thin, light weight goods. In many instances, farmers, in their anxiety to get weight, ruined the texture of the crop by taking down in too high case. Some farmers have adopted the nefarious practice of sprinkling snow on their tobacco as they take it down and letting it lay and draw moisture, before bundling.

Filler Portion a Failure
Dealers have had more or less trouble with musty goods, in the crops of 1900 and 1902. From the packer's record it is shown that this damage is confined to crop lots, and in many instances packers have obtained positive proof that such crops had been sprinkled with snow and water by the farmers. Such farmers are black-listed and will have the pleasure of holding their goods until cured. The entire filler portions of the crops of 1900 and 1902 was a failure in the hands of the dealers. This is traceable to the rash carelessness of the farmer in the use of artificial moisture and the practice of shingling the bales. Packers in the last three years, have sustained a total loss of the filler portion aggregating at least $500,000.

Grower Must Hold
Owing to the stringency of the money markets the proposition of handling the crop of 1903 is hard to grasp. Farmers will realize the situation more keenly later in the season. From present indications 50 per cent of the present crop will remain in farmers' hands to be cased and cured. There are various reasons for the lull and lethargy in the markets. It is quite natural to blame the trusts, and lay much stress on their manipulation of the market. It is natural to howl about overproduction, etc, but to the careful observer, the paramount cause for lack of interest in the crop of 1903 is traceable directly to the merits and demerits of the crop.

Review of Crop
Both local and foreign dealers have made a careful canvass of the situation and agree that the crop is not meritorious enough to guarantee paying the prices farmers are asking. To size the situation up in a nutshell, the state has produced the largest yield in its history. The 40,000 acres will probably yield 50,000,000 pounds. Owing to the adverse condition of the season, 40 per cent of the crop is damaged from wind, hail, mud and sunburn. It is lamentable to note the amount of tobacco which was caught in rain storms in harvesting and ruined by getting muddy.

Just 75,000 Cases
Such tobaccos can never be utilized except for fertilizing purposes, and farmers should bear this in mind in preparing their crops for the market. Owing to the damp condition of the crop when harvested, the lack of sunshine when growing, the loss from shed-burn is appalling. In justice to the situation it is safe to say there will be 75,000 cases of good, desirable Wisconsin tobaccos this season. If farmers will exercise good judgment and carefully select out all damaged goods the sound portion will ultimately demand reasonably good prices.

Pioneer Growers
The recent death of Orrin Pomeroy, at Fulton, recalls to mind the intimate connection of the Pomeroy family with the introduction of tobacco growing, not only in Wisconsin but Ohio as well. In both states they were the pioneers in starting tobacco growing, which has since spread to become such an important farm product.

From Connecticut
More than sixty years ago, in 1839, Orrin and Ralph Pomeroy emigrated from Suffield, Conn., to Wayne township in the Miami Valley, Ohio, and grew the first crop of cigar leaf from seed brought with them from Connecticut. From this beginning tobacco as a field crop began to spread until now this state is the third largest in production of the country.

Settled in Fulton
In 1853 the Pomeroy brothers, Ralph, Orrin and William, settled on adjoining farms in the town of Fulton and began to cultivate tobacco, the first year with a ten-acre crop, and at no season since has there been less than that acreage grown on any one of the three farms. Orrin Pomeroy has ever since been one of the largest growers of tobacco in the west. Wm. T. Pomeroy of Janesville, is the only surviving member of the three brothers who were pioneers in two states.

ENGLISHMAN IS WARM IN PRAISE

Says University of Wisconsin Holds First Place in His Mind Among American Universities.

Honorable William Henry Jones, a member of the English parliament who has been visiting this country with the Mosley delegation for the purpose of studying the American methods of study in the higher educational colleges and universities, says that the universities of the west owned and controlled by state endowment are far superior to the old time eastern colleges who depend upon endowments from individuals to exist. In naming the first five great American universities in the United States Mr. Jones places the University of Wisconsin on the list. He does not even give the school of Mr. Rockefeller on the Midway an honorable mention. The other four universities are Harvard, Cornell, Michigan and California. In his list of ten he names Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota and possibly Kansas and Tennessee. In speaking of the University of Wisconsin he says:

"This university is strong in numbers. It is democracy, where merit alone counts; its standing in scholarship is of the highest; its degrees are recognized by every university in the world; and its spirit and purpose are as broad and inclusive as the universe. Unlike the older colleges of the east, it is not circumscribed and hampered by a conservative, classic curriculum, nor is it intimidated by its benefactors, as are some of the colleges founded by the predatory rich."

"It is the wholesome product of a commonwealth of three millions of people; sane, democratic, industrial and progressive; with ideals, and unafraid of ideas. It responds to every need of humanity; it knits together the professions and labor; it makes the fine arts and the avocations. There are many of these state universities who have much or all of this; but to this must be added the natural endowment of the University of Wisconsin, its location is sublime."

DISTRICT SCHOOL HAD CELEBRATION

Mrs. Cecie Munger's Pupils Gave a Pleasing Thanksgiving Program.

Perhaps, one of the happiest Thanksgiving gatherings of the past week was held at the little schoolhouse, joint district number two, of the towns of La Prairie and Rock of which Mrs. Cecie Munger is the teacher. The celebration was held on Wednesday and the little schoolroom was profusely decorated with autumn products making it a veritable bower of pumpkins and corn stalks. County Superintendent Antisdel was present and added to the pleasure of the children by giving them a short address. The little ones had invited their parents to be present and their carefully prepared recitations and songs all showed the finishing touch of their teacher, Mrs. Munger, who has worked with them for several weeks in preparation for the happy event.

NO PREMIUM ON THE '94 DOLLAR

The Report That This Coinage Had Arisen to Fabulous Value, and Good for Trip to World's Fair, is False.

Some time ago the report gained circulation in the Janesville railroad shops and doubtless in other localities of the city that the silver dollar of 1894 had risen to a fabulous value and that the possession of one of these was sufficient to insure the lucky owner of a trip to the St. Louis fair with all expenses paid. A bank cashier in the town of Greenwood has taken the trouble to look into the matter and as a result of his investigations declares that the whole matter is a hoax. The joker who started the rumor evidently meant that 1,894 dollars would cover the expenses to the fair.

The Coinage of 1894
The impression that only 400 silver dollars were coined in 1894, given by some as an explanation for the supposed premium, is also wrong. The output of silver dollars from the several mints during 1894 was as follows: Philadelphia, 110,072; New Orleans, 7,223,000; San Francisco, 1,260,000. Further the idea that silver dollars coined at Carson City in 1894 are good for a trip to the fair is only a dream. The whole thing is a joke. In fact Carson City coined no money after May 23, 1893. Persons who have given fancy prices for 1894 dollars will have a hard time playing even on their purchases.

BIG EXHIBIT IN THE WINDY CITY

GREAT STOCK SHOW BEGAN THIS MORNING.

JANESVILLE ANIMALS THERE

Both Galbraith and Stericker Have Good Strings on Exhibition.

Stockmen from all over the country are turning their eyes towards the great exhibit at the Dexter Park Pavilion and adjacent buildings in the stock yard district of Chicago. Not only are fine cattle from all parts of the United States gathered here for exhibit and sale but the finest of imported stallions and brood mares of the heavy draft class are to be found here in a larger profusion than any previous exhibit of its kind ever held in this country. Janesville is well represented by the fine animals of the Stericker and Galbraith stables, who are well represented by the cream of their respective barns.

Fourth Exhibit
This is the fourth annual exhibit of the Live Stock association. The total number of animals is in the neighborhood of 12,510 head of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs and are open for the inspection of the crowds who throng the big pavilion which covers nearly sixty-five acres of land.

It will be a rare sight and one not to be forgotten. Even the famous fairs of England, Ireland and Scotland are but pigmies compared to this giant undertaking. To secure a coveted blue ribbon from the many exhibits is well worth trying for, and Janesville may well be proud if the horses from here come back with the little knot that betokens the premiership in their class.

Many Students
Agricultural colleges through the country have taken advantage of this exhibit to send delegations of five students each from the following institutions to study the fine points of the animals and the manner in which prizes are awarded: University of Wisconsin, Ohio State University, South Dakota Agricultural college, Kansas State Agricultural college, Minnesota State Agricultural college, Iowa Agricultural, Nebraska State, and Texas Agricultural and Mechanical Art school.

Many to Go
Many Janesville people who are interested in horses or stock are planning to attend the great exhibit some day this week and many who will merely go for the strange sight of so many blue blooded animals gathered into one building will be attracted.

FARMER LAD WAS NEATLY TOUCHED

He Lost His Little Roll of Green Backs in the Line City.

Beloit must be a bad place if a young farmer can not come into that lively little city for a few hours' pleasure with his old friend, Sir John Barleycorn, and not be relieved of his hard earned cash to the tune of $230. Martin Anderson, who lives south of town, paid Beloit a visit last week and returned to the farm a sadder but wiser youth minus $230 of his hard earned cash. He did not need to go to Chicago to lose his money by buying the Masonic Temple or "going to see the explosion on the lake front with some kind of a stranger who knows the city." One night in the red light district of the Line City was enough for him and now the police are looking for the greenbacks with small hopes of finding them.

IMPROVE SERVICE THROUGHOUT CITY

Postal Telegraph Line Proposes Moving the Unlucky Poles on McKay Boulevard.

After many months' correspondence upon the subject, with Alderman Matheson of the Third ward, the Postal Telegraph company will now move their telegraph poles from the middle of McKay boulevard to the side of the street. While no order to this effect was presented to the council Alderman Matheson had one prepared in case they should continue their dilatory tactics of delay. In order to hasten matters the Wisconsin Telephone company recently offered to allow their wires to be strung on their poles, but this offer was refused and now poles for the change have arrived in the city and work of moving will be begun very shortly.

The Postal line is making many improvements throughout the country and next spring they intend placing a line from Madison to the Cream City, thus strengthening their service in this direction. In the city new call boxes are to be placed the coming week and another messenger boy added to the local force.

WITH LINK Gossip of Interests to Railroad AND PIN. Men.

North-Western Road
Several of the railroad men who make their headquarters at the round-house are mourning over a birdless Thanksgiving dinner and swearing to get even with Ma T. Matthews, the alleged cause. With Engineer A. H. Shockey he started Wednesday for a hunting trip at Koshkonong, after advising several of the men not to purchase any turkeys as he had decided that wild duck should grace their festive boards on the following noon. Two nimrods arrived at the lake without mishap and crossed a portion of it on the ice. After scouring the shores without result they started to return. The trail led them to the river and a fisherman who happened to be in the vicinity proffered them the use of his aluminum sled boat to cross the dangerous ice. Engineer Shockey accepted gladly and got into the boat but the intrepid Matthews scorned such means of locomotion and strode boldly onto the ice. He was midway between the two shores when he heard the familiar "quack quack" of a flock of teal rising from a little stretch of open water not far distant. He raised his gun to fire, took a step forward, and—horror of horrors—the treacherous footing gave way and the huntsman sank with a shriek into the yawning and frightful abyss. Two promised Thanksgiving dinners uttered a few hoarse croaks of derision and were soon mere specks on the southern sky line.

MOLASSES FOR HORSES

Recently scientific tests have been made as to what is the best feed for horses that are unthrifty or sick. Instead of feeding them oats or corn, Molasses Feed is given with the most gratifying results. A horse that weighed 1000 pounds gained 40 pounds in two weeks on a molasses diet, and in a month he had added nearly 100 pounds to his weight. All signs of disease disappeared and his coat of hair was glossy and beautiful. This experiment was but one of hundreds, all showing the wonderful curative and health giving properties of Molasses Feed. Farmers, horsemen and others who own horses should give the Molasses Feed a test. It is cheap, and if as represented by scientists, it can re-make and re-build run-down horses, it will prove invaluable to owners of horse flesh. This feed for sale at

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, November 30, 1863.—The Vicksburg army of General Sherman, which by a rapid march from Eastport, in Northern Mississippi, where it abandoned the Memphis and Charleston railroad, to Chattanooga, enabled General Grant, at the "nick of time" to set on foot the great movement which has resulted in driving Bragg's rebel army from the front of our stronghold there, forcing it to beat a hasty retreat south, accomplished one of the most remarkable feats in the history of army marches.

Afternoon Dispatches.—Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—A dispatch just received by the board of brokers states that Meade had captured two corps of Lee's army. This needs confirmation.

The War Democrats.—The convention of war democrats which assembled at Chicago on the 25th inst., adopted a platform and appointed a national executive committee. In a word they organized a third party for the presidential campaign. We perceive that Mat. H. Carpenter is the national committee. The meeting recommended the war democracy to send delegates to a national convention, on the 1st Wednesday of May, 1864, for the purpose of taking such action as they may think best touching the nomination of candidates for president and vice president of the United States, &c. The platform is not different in any material respect from the resolutions adopted by the state convention which was held in this city.

waukee.—A concert of the Musical Society of Milwaukee was held in that city on Tuesday evening last, and it appears, according to the Milwaukee papers, that Miss Olive H. Wilson, of this city, made quite a successful debut on the occasion. This is not at all surprising, as her musical powers are well known in this city.

Beecher on Wood.—In the farewell breakfast speech of Henry Ward Beecher at Manchester, England, he thus spoke of the copperheads and their New York leader:

"Those who thought decisive measures too dangerous are called anti-slavery; those who were for immediate disruption were called abolitionists. But now there is no distinction at all and Mr. Garrison has said in public that when he said the constitution involved slavery, he never expected to see the emancipation proclamation of Mr. Lincoln. (Applause). There is now an overwhelming majority in the north who say: 'Since they have taken the sword, let slavery perish by the sword.' And then there is a small party that lives in crevices and cracks where dirt breeds vermin—a small malignant part that are called 'peace democrats,' with that Convention, of the Times newspaper is accused to hold up as the exponent of American peace doctrine—who has been dangled in the arms and praised by the lies of Christian men, who, if they could know his crimes and vices, and the ineffably satanic wickedness of the man, would blow him from their parlor—as you do Sepoys from the mouths of your cannon."

Coming Attractions.

CALENDAR AT MYERS GRAND

Nov. 30.—"Dare Devil Dorothy."

Creator.

This city is about to enjoy a visit from the most unique and interesting attraction in the musical world today. Sig. Creator and his Italian band will be heard at Myers Grand. There is no better concert band in America than Creator's organization of 50 or 60 men, and the world has not produced another leader of Creator's energy and ability as a bandmaster. He is a musical artist of the very first rank and with more brilliant ideas of interpretation and more startling results in effect than the American public has heretofore had opportunity to contemplate. Some of the best critics in this country have gone into very elaborate comments regarding the soulful feeling and artistic temperament so strongly shown in the music produced under Creator's baton. He seems to be unique, or in fact a delightful revelation in his line so that new beauties, novel ideas and a variety of charms are found in his playing of music that has been heard many times before. To the operatic selections, which grace Creator's program at every concert, he seems to give up his artistic and dramatic soul, becoming so absorbed with his sentiment and passion of the music that he seems to act it all out before his men for their inspiration, and in illustrating to them the way he wishes it performed upon their instruments. There never was a truer leader, and it seems at times that he almost plays the instruments himself or makes them respond to his every bidding. There is a unanimity about his concerts and a sympathetic ensemble that has been classed among the most marvelous performances of any musical organization. Creator dominates every attempt and every effect; he is so intense, so serious, and so successful that if he is not the whole attraction himself, as many claim, he is the cause of all the success and will be remembered long after the concert is over when all else is forgotten.

Dare Devil Dorothy. The London, England, Telegraph, in speaking of "The Dare Devil Dorothy" recently, and which is to be the attraction at the Myers Grand opera house on Monday night, says: "Anyone who witnessed the immense audience at the Royal Theatre last night, where that dramatic novelty was again seen for a return engagement, could not fail to have been impressed with the tremendous popularity of this play with the public. For three or four years this remarkable play has been on the stage and yet the intense interest and watchfulness of the spectators was greater than at its first presentation here. The reason for all this can easily be traced. In the first place the story and plot is a powerful one and is told with so large an amount of human traits that it appeals strongly to all classes. But the dramatic work is not all in "Dare Devil Dorothy," in fact it is only one-half of the production of a very strong musical comedy feature. In fact the combination includes besides a strong dramatic company, a splendid musical or comic opera company and also a number of well known vaudeville people, as in the fourth act of the play a novel circus scene is introduced in which a specialty performance takes place.

Amongst the principal members of the combination are Alfred Britton, J. E. Squirell, William H. Conley, Clark Ross, O. E. Fitzgerald, Miss Grace Gibbons, Miss Toby Craige, Miss Zella Marston, and Miss Geraldine Burnett. There has always been a splendid demand for seats and it is evident that a large audience will welcome "Dare Devil Dorothy" on Monday night.

When a newspaper man asked Ezra Kendall if "The Vinegar Buyer" furnished him an opportunity to do any monologue work, the humorist comedian replied:

"It furnishes me with an opportunity to make a fool of myself, which is what I have been doing for a good many years for the benefit of the dear public."

"How do you like the change from vaudeville to comedy?"

"All right. But that is nothing new to me, you know. I was out with 'A Pair of Kids' for eleven years before I took up monologue work."

"That is so."

"I was out eleven years, but I should have been out only four."

"How is that?"

"Well, I ought to have been shot at the beginning of the fifth year."

Ezra Kendall is not only a very funny man but an original one as well. He made it a rule not to be interviewed, especially in a one night stand, unless the interviewer has a written letter from the encouraging editor. He does not propose to lose his eyesight looking for interviews after talking to a reporter for three hours.

Talking of losing his eyesight, a clever story is told of Kendall when he was a struggling star some years ago. He had a treasurer with his company who had the faculty of being short in his accounts. The comedian overlooked it for several weeks as the accounts were small. They finally grew to such proportions that his services were dispensed with. In reaching Birmingham, Alabama, the local manager asked Mr. Kendall what became of his former treasurer, to which the humorist replied: "I had to let him go. He was color blind."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, he couldn't tell my money from his."

WORTH A THOUGHT.

This Statement Will Interest Scores of Janesville Readers.

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of Beloit. It is a local occurrence and can be thoroughly investigated. Mr. J. E. Flint, of 576 Bluff street, Beloit, Miller at the Woodgett Mfg. Co., says: "I had pain in my back for about two years. Although I was not laid up and unable to work, still the dull tired aching while at work was disagreeable and inconvenient. Standing and walking about aggravated it, or if I sat in one position any length of time my back became very stiff. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in one of our papers and as they were especially recommended for such complaints I got a box. They soon took the pain and soreness out of my back and kidneys. They reached the spot at once." Plenty more proof like this from Janesville people. Call at the Peoples' Drug store and ask what their customers report. For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

The New Speaker
The Review of Reviews thus describes the new speaker of the House. The new speaker of the House of Representatives is a "character." He is as much a "character" as was Andrew Jackson, the rugged, or John Randolph of Roanoke, the terrible, or Roscoe Conkling, the impetuous. The man who now presides over the American House of Commons, and who under our traditions and with our practices is without doubt second only to the president of the United States himself in his influence over the affairs of the government, has a personality unique, peculiar, most interesting, and in many ways admirable. "Uncle Joe" Cannon he is to all who know him; and the sobriquet in a sense bespeaks the character of the man, for we rarely apply the prefix of "Uncle" to any one who has not a goodly share of the milk of human kindness in his veins. "Uncle Joe" has a nature that is brimming full of sunshine, of kindness, of good feeling, of quaint humor, and above all of what we Americans know as plain, common "horse sense." He likes to place his arm affectionately upon the shoulders of the men who are near to him. He likes to ask his callers to "set down and have a good visit," meanwhile planting his feet upon a nearby table and pulling out of his pocket three or four small and not very good cigars. He likes to "talk it over," fully and patiently, and with keen insight on his part and an invitation to frankness on that of his visitor, cigar ashes meanwhile falling copiously and indiscriminately over his waistcoat, trousers and shirt-front. His gray eyes twinkle with merriment. His thin, straight, compressed lips part often in smile, but more often merely curl up at the corners with an expression of inimitable humor and appreciation of humor.

But if any one imagines that there is anything "easy" about this good-humored, gossiping, story-telling, quip-loving, homely spoken man; if any one supposes that back of all the man-like there is not man-knowledge; if any one believes that this "funny Jim" statesman lacks will of iron and nerve of steel, he need not wait long to be undeceived. If ever there was a man in our public life who knew how to say "no" and stick everlastingly to it, "Uncle Joe" is he. The eyes are merry and kindly, but they are sharp, too, and can "see through" men and things with a searching power that is almost X-ray-like. "You can't fool Uncle Joe," is a common saying in the halls of congress. Or, "he is up to snuff," "he has savvy," "he is a smart one, well able to take care of himself in any company and in any game, be it legislation, politics, or poker." These are common expressions in the mouths of his intimates. —From "Speaker Cannon."

Our Nation's Flag in History and Incident
A handsome 12 mo. cloth book with many illustrations, entitled "Our Nation's Flag in History and Incident," has just made its appearance, and will be welcomed by book lovers in making holiday selections. This volume contains the true story of Old Glory. It is a book of unusual interest and value for the following reasons:
It supplies much that is lacking in other works on our nation's flag.
It gives a concise and straightforward treatment of the many banners used in the early part of the American Revolution.
Tradition is not accepted as history.
It gives synopses of the curious and interesting debates in the American congress relative to the alterations of the flags of 1795 and 1818. These synopses have never before been published in any book on the flag.
A chapter of special value is that giving an account of the Daughters of the American Revolution to save the flag from desecration.
The volume contains more valuable historical incidents with which the stately banner has been associated, and more eloquent apostrophes to, and paragraphs about, the flag than all other books on that subject combined.
Those needing historical and anecdotal incidents connected with the inception and growth of the American flag, for use on patriotic occasions, will find much in this volume which will prove useful and inspiring.

The book contains many colored plates which illustrate the wonderful evolution of our Star Spangled Banner.
This volume should not only be found in all public libraries, but should be a welcome guest to "home-makers and home-keepers."

The peculiar scope and treatment of the subject make "Our Nation's Flag in History and Incident" especially adapted to the use of the general reader, the teacher, the preacher, and the patriotic speaker.
The author is Colonel Nichols Smith, whose fame as an author is well established. The book is his latest production and it will be read with interest by his many friends, as well as by others who are interested in the history and varied experience of "Old Glory." The Young Churchman Co. of Milwaukee are the publishers. The price of the book is $1.00, postage 10c. For sale by all book dealers.

UNIONISM AND SOCIALISM.

The recent discussion of socialism by the American Federation of Labor leads the Wall St. Journal to make the following pertinent comments.

By a vote of 11,282 against 2,185 the convention of the American Federation of Labor refused to adopt resolutions committing that body to socialistic principles. This was done after an extended and vigorous debate, so the vote may fairly be held to reflect the situation as it carefully consideration.

There is eternal warfare between the principles of unionism and those of socialism. The principles of unionism are based on recognition and acceptance of a social state which the principles of socialism seek to destroy. Both creeds draw their adherents from very much the same material, namely, the large mass of people who are in a broad sense of the word wage earners under the present system of society. Both systems have been denounced as un-American, but while this charge may fairly be levied against socialism, because of its implicit denial of the first principles upon which the government of this country is based, it cannot, with the same justice, be brought against trade unionism, which does not, at all events by its principles, necessarily deny the rights of man. If trade unionism is un-American in anything, it is in its doctrine of the "union shop" and in its doctrine of the equality of union membership with citizenship. It does not, however, embody an economic fallacy, or rather an economic doctrine, in conflict with natural law. Socialism does. It is fair to say that considering the forces operating nowadays on the general mass of the population, the strength of unionism means weakness of socialism, and vice versa. Believing, as we do, that socialism embodies both political and economic bulwark in the body politic to day against the encroachments of socialism.

Much can be said against the practices of unionism and against some of its doctrines. When all has been said, however, the fact remains that the principle of organization and collective bargaining is sound in itself and is capable of being cleansed from the unsound doctrines that have been grafted upon it. Unionism can be mended and made a powerful and beneficial factor in our present civilization. There is no mending socialism. It is needless to say, therefore, that the action of the Federation of Labor convention in rejecting by so large a majority resolutions committing that body to socialistic doctrine will commend itself to everyone, fair minded and clear minded enough to recognize facts and their bearing. We have said more than once that "Parryism" makes for socialism. While we do not believe that there is any danger of "Parryism" commending itself to any very large section of the public, it may nevertheless work a good deal of harm for the time being.

THE REAL ISSUE.

President Roosevelt is not a preacher and yet he occasionally speaks from the sacred desk. He recently attended Abraham Lincoln's old church in Washington where he uttered these significant words:

"No generation can claim as an excuse for failure the fact that it is not guilty of the sins of the preceding generation. It was a surprise to me—I suppose it was a surprise to many of us—to realize that a hundred years ago, in the days of the fathers, the lot of the poor debtor was so hard. It seems incredible to us now that there could have been such callousness to the underserved human suffering then. I hope sincerely that a century hence it will seem equally incredible to the American of that time that there should be corruption and venality in public life.

"We can divide, and must divide on party lines, as regards certain questions, we cannot afford to divide and I have a right to challenge the best effort of every American worthy of the name in putting down by every means in his power corruption in private life, and, above all, corruption in public life."

Thus does the president indicate that he regards "graft" as the distinguishing evil of our times quite as much as imprisonment for debt was a hundred years ago, and in this language does he proclaim the issue of anti-graft as the one great duty which citizens, regardless of their differences on other questions, must unite.

This proposition does not seem particularly startling, and yet it is evident that the president regards what he terms "graft," in one form or, another, as a besetting weakness of the times, and one that he speedily remedied.

The Northern Securities Company and a board of smaller enterprises of the same character, proved to be grafters so well disguised as to deceive the very best.

The various combines, which have absorbed so many industrial enterprises, under the bright light of recent investigations, have earned the title of grafters, for they have been the means of absorbing and swallowing up large blocks of unsuspecting capital.

The large centers of population, as well as many of the smaller class have suffered more from grafters during the past two years, than for a decade.

The city of Grand Rapids, Michigan, now has under indictment 17 aldermen, who are accused of robbing the city, and even Janesville has had a shaking up along this line.

It is evident to any thoughtful mind that the people have drifted away from the moorings of the fathers, and in a mad rush for wealth have gone wild with the spirit of speculation.

At such times the public crib is always inviting and is not at all surprising that grafting has been prominent. Even the labor world has not been free from it and in many departments men are only permitted to do a specified amount of work in a given time.

The president is wise in calling attention to this national weakness and in sounding a note of warning. Simple honesty needs entertaining by men in public life, and if the nation is to maintain supremacy there must be some radical and permanent reforms.

The young hoodlums who committed the car barn crimes in Chicago evidently graduated young from the school of yellow covered literature.

The campaign of Judge Baensch and ex-Congressman Cook, is progressing quietly. There will be plenty of time for demonstration after the holidays.

An opportunity to go to the United States senate usually comes but once in a life time. If the governor misses his opportunity next year he will never see another.

There are so many statesmen in the northern part of the state who aspire to office, that it is difficult to tell where some of them will get off. Lenroot and Froear for instance.

A RECORD IN FAST TRAVEL.

Speed is likely to be the great discovery of the twentieth century. Indeed, motion especially adapted to transportation seems to be our greatest aim. We still remember the thrill with which we heard of the sixty-mile an hour train. It was nothing short of wonderful. Then came seventy miles and ninety miles. Early this year a motor-railroad between Manchester and Liverpool, England, put the record up to one hundred and ten miles an hour. We had hardly become accustomed to this, hardly passed the stage of regarding it as a freak, when from Germany came the news that on the Marienfeld-Zossen Military Road an electric car made a speed of over one hundred and twenty-five miles an hour. The news came with the statement that even higher records were expected, an expectation which was realized a few days later in the highest record yet obtained—one hundred and thirty and two-fifths miles an hour. Though this record stands at the present time of writing it is not at all unlikely that before this appears in print a new one may be established. The engineers of the above road have declared one hundred and fifty miles per hour as their goal. In light of previous results, its consummation is not incredible.

The experiments of the Marienfeld-Zossen Railroad are extremely interesting, not only because of the value of the results obtained, but because of the character of the undertaking. The trials are under the direction of the Studien-Gesellschaft für Elektrische Schnellbahnen, an association containing large manufacturing concerns and several industrial banks, owing its inception strangely enough to two large rival electrical firms. It has a board of directors of eighteen members, men of the highest scientific and industrial reputation. The Prussian government has also aided both with moral and financial support. The undertaking has, therefore, a universal character.—From Current Literature.

Not Entitled to a Puff.
"I believe the man who was more afraid of advertising something for nothing than any newspaper man I have ever seen," said a Chicago news paper man, "was John Knapp of the old St. Louis Republican. He hated to print a doctor's or lawyer's name for fear he would give a free puff. "One time there was mention made in the paper of a man having died of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Old man Knapp hunted up the copy reader.

"What do you mean, he said, 'by running in the name Bright in our columns? He is not an advertiser in our paper and is not entitled to a notice unless he pays for it.'—Denver Post.

Netsuki Purse.
The fad for the netsuki purse is one that started in San Francisco, where the many Japanese merchants first put these purses on display. It has spread the country over, and now the fashionables are paying as much as $150 or $200 for purses of solid embroidery with old ivory knobs that catch in the belt. The knob is becoming a feature of all the new purses; the New York shops are displaying jeweled ones made of gold and silver links and carried by the ivory knobs.

Piece Better Than Its Name.

"Dare Devil Dorothy" Pleases and Is Enjoyable Throughout.

A rollicking, mirthful, well balanced comedy, with sufficient enlivening music to keep the temperaments of the audience just proper. That's "Dare Devil Dorothy." It has all those parts which go to make an amusing piece, and all who have missed it have missed a treat. It is extraordinary in nearly its entirety, and that fact speaks for it in deserved terms.

Only a fair sized audience greeted the show at the Grand last night, but all who did were highly pleased and should it return, a full house will be attracted. The title is so ambiguous that the style of play could not well be determined without seeing the piece, and does not by any means do it justice, but rather retards its popularity.

WILL REMODEL OLD POSTOFFICE

COMPLETE RENOVATION IS NOW
PLANNED FOR THE STRUCTURE.

IT IS AN IDEAL LOCATION

Will Have the Finest Equipment of Any Store in the City.

Since the moving of the postoffice from the Lovejoy block on Milwaukee street to its new building there have been many inquiries as to what use the old building was to be put to. It was learned this morning that as soon as the old fixtures of the building are disposed of the interior will be entirely remodelled and a store complete in every way will be finished. The work will be pushed during the winter months and by early spring the structure will be ready for occupancy.

Increased Size
By tearing out the old Bower City mill site back of the building an increased store depth will be obtained and the store when finished will be 112 feet deep and 55 feet street frontage. It is said that the newest of fittings will be used and the store when finished will be a model of its kind. Just what firm will occupy it is not yet known, but it would make an ideal location for a department or a large dry goods house.

Many Renters
It is said that several firms in the city have made inquiries of the owners as regards the building and it is rumored that one firm has an option on it and as soon as remodeled will move in and extend their business, so as to have a complete department store similar to those of the large cities.

COACH CURTIS IS VERY CONFIDENT

Believes Next Year's Varsity Team
Will Be a Championship
One.

Arthur Curtis coach of the Wisconsin football eleven of the past year, is confident that next year Wisconsin will not end up at the tail end of the procession. He firmly believes that with the new material coming and the return of the old players to the university the 1904 team will be one of the strongest in the west. Among the new stars who are to come to the university next year are many who have made enviable records for themselves in the past year's work at preparatory schools. Among them are Roseth, the captain and star fullback of the champion Eau Claire high school team; Quarterback Steffen of the North Division High school of Chicago, a strong fullback from the North Dakota university, who played on the team coached by Edward Chochens this fall, and several other prominent high school players in the state.

Curtis says that although he had not yet signed a contract to coach the Badger eleven for next year, an agreement has practically been reached whereby he will again be in charge of the eleven at Madison in 1904.

There is a possibility that Joe Fogg, the quarterback on the varsity eleven, will be back in school next year and in case he decides to return he will be a rival candidate for the captaincy with Edward Vanderboom of Marinette. Irving Bush of Milwaukee, who has played on the team for two seasons, is also being mentioned for the position.

JOYCE CASE TO BE CONTINUED

REPORTED THAT DEFENSE WILL PETITION COURT, TOMORROW

TO POSTPONE TILL FEBRUARY

An Unprecedented Number of 1,525
Hunting Licenses Has Been Issued by County Clerk Starr.

No session of the circuit court was held today, the cases noticed having been settled or otherwise disposed of, and the jurors were dismissed until tomorrow. The criminal calendar was to be taken up Tuesday but it is altogether likely that it will occupy little time.

Joyce Case Continued?

It is reported that the attorneys for the defendant, Tom Joyce, in the Zimmerman murder case, which was set for December 1, will tomorrow morning ask for a continuance of the case until the spring term in February. The application will doubtless be granted.

Many Hunting Licenses

At two o'clock this afternoon County Clerk Starr had issued just 1,525 hunting licenses. This number is unprecedented and the end is not yet as several applications are coming in each day. For the whole season, last year, but 1,350 licenses were issued.

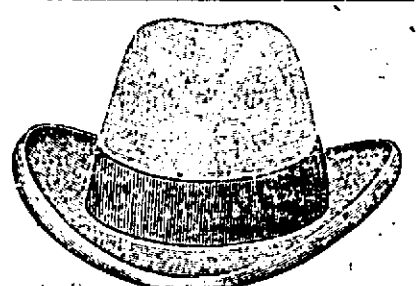

CANAL PLANNED FOR AVON TOWN

This Would Reclaim Many Acres of Land Now Under Water in Wet Weather.

The enterprising land owners of Avon township have succeeded in forming a drainage district, whereby 4000 to 5000 acres of bottom lands will be reclaimed and made the most valuable land in Rock county. This land lies along the state line in the Sugar river valley and will raise the north of this already valuable property about fifty per cent. The improvement consists of a canal about six miles in length with a width at the beginning of 16 feet on top, and 9 feet on the bottom, widening to 28 feet on top and 16 feet on the bottom. It will be 6 feet deep.

Bids will soon be advertised for by the board of supervisors of the township. Work will be begun on the canal as soon as the weather opens up in the spring and be pushed rapidly to completion.

FT. ATKINSON NOW WANTS THE GAME

Asks Eau Claire to Meet Them on the Gridiron This Week.

William Juneau of Milwaukee, coach of the Fort Atkinson football eleven, is confident that his team would give a good account of itself in a contest with Eau Claire on the gridiron. He has written to Matt Conlin, the Eau Claire coach, offering to meet the Eau Claire eleven any day next week and any place in the state except in Fort Atkinson and Eau Claire, Milwaukee or Camp Randall preferred.

Such a contest would be certain to attract a crowd sufficient to pay all expenses incurred to date by both teams. All over the state a desire is expressed that the teams meet and the game would have a state interest equal to that of a university contest.

A challenge has been received by Fort Atkinson from Escanaba, Mich., to play there next Saturday. It states they consider the Fort Atkinson team the best in Wisconsin and as they hold the championship of Michigan they desire to meet Fort Atkinson.

WILL PROBABLY MEET IN CHICAGO

BOTH PARTIES MAY ACCEPT ITS INVITATION.

ST. LOUIS IS ALSO AFTER IT

Would Duplicate Bid to Each, and Furnish an Adequate Hall for the Meeting.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Money talks, and members of the national committees of the two principal political parties are as susceptible to its dulcet tones as the most ordinary individual. Appreciating the great value of a genuine offer of cash in shaping the location of the meeting place of the Republican and Democratic national conventions, politicians are generally willing to admit that Chicago will win hands down in the contest now on for the honor of entertaining the next presidential conventions. In the race with Chicago for the Republican national convention are St. Louis, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Detroit and Pittsburgh, but these contestants have been disabused by Chicago in the first heat.

Offers $50,000 to Each. Chicago's offer to donate $50,000 to each of the big national conventions to help defray the expenses, and its further offer to fit up at a cost of about $35,000 the Coliseum Building for their use free of charge are the trump cards which will bring success to the efforts now being made by Chicagoans to capture them. The cash offer is most liberal, and is not likely to be duplicated by any other city, although St. Louisans are extremely anxious to get the conventions and promise to meet any offer made by other cities. Indianapolis, Cincinnati and New York may yet enter the contest, but so far have not filed formal applications. The Republican national committee will meet here Dec. 11 and 12 for the purpose of selecting the place and fixing the date for holding the party convention.

INTERNAL REVENUES.

One-Fifth of Internal Taxes Comes From Prairie State.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Illinois paid more than one-fifth of the entire amount of internal revenue collected in the past year, and the Fifth, or Peoria, district was the banner collection district of the United States. The aggregate collections of internal revenue for the year ending June 30 last was $230,740,925, and of this Illinois paid $50,562,456, while the Peoria district alone paid $3,413,023.

The First district of Chicago paid $6,641,455. The Second district, Springfield, paid $1,100,000. The Third district, St. Louis, paid $540,694. In Illinois there were 2,252 factories, using 5,676,335 pounds of tobacco, and manufacturing 305,000,000 cigars. In addition to this Chicago produced 23,515,000 cigarettes.

Illinois produced 1,263,841 pounds of oleomargarine, which was taxed 10 cents a pound because of its coloration to resemble butter, and 23,155,339 pounds of oleomargarine uncolored, paying a tax of one-fourth of a cent a pound. In addition to this the state produced 19,382,239 pounds of process or renovated butter.

Women May Enter University.

Washington, Nov. 30.—James H. Worman, United States consul general at Munich, Germany, has reported to the State Department that the University of Munich has opened its doors to women students. Hitherto no women were permitted to matriculate in the German universities. The consul general says the rector of the university has promised to urge that American women possessing diplomas from reputable American colleges shall be conceded the same advantages that have been conceded by German universities to graduates of reputable American colleges and universities. Under the concessions temporarily made Mr. Worman says a number of American young women graduates from American colleges have entered the University of Munich this term.

Ambulance Call: Major John Chase, the well known Grand Army veteran who was stricken with dropsy a week ago last Wednesday at Smith's Hotel, was removed by the ambulance to the county house this afternoon. He is, of course, not a county charge but it was thought that he might have better care there than at the hotel. Major Chase is eighty-seven years old and his condition is very serious.

THOUSANDS DIE IN THE TYPHOON

Three Hundred Chinese Fishing Junks Are Wrecked in an Awful Storm.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 30.—Advices were received from South China by the Athenian of the loss of thousands of lives as a result of the destruction of several hundred fishing junks in a typhoon off Swatow. The havoc was awful, when the gale swept down on the Chinese vessels. For days disabled junks drifted helplessly about, their occupants suffering from thirst and hunger. The Hongkong government tender Stanley picked up eight junks and took 122 men off vessels that were abandoned. The rescued fishermen reported there were 400 junks fishing off Swatow when the typhoon came on Nov. 4. From Stanley fifty-seven disabled junks were seen flying distress signals. Of the 400 fishing junks at least 300 are reported disabled or sunk.

Football Injury Is Fatal.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—Harvey Chase, aged 16, who suffered injuries several weeks ago in a game of football, died at his home at Kirkwood. The boy's arm was hurt during the game. Blood poisoning set in, resulting in death.

ALDERMAN IS GUILTY OF ELECTION FRAUD

Chicago Solon and His Companions Face Terms in Jail for Violating State Law.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Verdicts of guilty for the violation of election laws were returned by the jury in the trial of Alderman John J. Brennan, Charles McCarie, and Herbert E. Kent, Sunday.

Judge Gary opened his chambers in the Criminal Courts building at 11 o'clock to receive the judgment of the jury, which had been out since 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

The penalty, if the verdict stands, is a term in the county jail of from three months to a year for each of the three defendants. The verdict evidently surprised them, as it did their attorney, W. S. Forrest, who was smiling confidently as the jury filed into court. Alderman Brennan gazed in a helpless stupor when the announcement was made, and his two companions appeared stunned.

The three defendants were all found guilty on the same counts—violation of the election laws. The three escaped imprisonment in the penitentiary, however, as well as subjection to fines, which, had the verdicts held them guilty of conspiracy, they would have received.

CARY WILL MAKE TESTS VERY SOON

Manner in Which Studies Are Mastered Are To Be Determined.

State Superintendent Cary has arranged to submit tests to high school classes of the state to determine the thoroughness with which fundamental principles in the various studies are mastered. The first test will be in algebra, and will be submitted Dec. 11. All solutions of the problem submitted must be made mentally and only the answers written down. The time of the solution of the problems will be noted in seconds. The number of correct answers will be divided by the number of seconds consumed in solving the problems. The quotient will show the relative rapidity among the students in doing the work. The superintendent has just issued a revised edition of the manual for high schools as well as a roster of the school officers and teachers of Wisconsin.

MAN IS KILLED, WIFE IS DYING

Sudden Fatality Causes Indiana Woman to Become Unconscious.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 30.—While Clark Roebuck, a farmer, was building a wire fence a dray chain broke and hit him in the face. He was knocked back over a pile of rails, breaking his neck. When carried to the house by neighbors who chanced by where he lay dead his wife fainted and has remained in a swoon, from which physicians say she will never recover.

Blizzard in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 30.—Specials from southwestern Michigan tell of a blizzard. Ten inches of snow and a driving west wind are reported at Benton Harbor and snow drifting to the fence tops is reported in the vicinity of Niles.

MARKET TALK OF CHICAGO MARKET

Little Wheat is For Sale at Present—Fresh Facts From Trading Center.

The fact developed at the opening this morning, that there was no great amount of wheat pressing for sale. Commission houses were well supplied with orders, and the heavy purchases by Armour started shorts covering. With every advance the fact became evident that there was "something doing," and when the 81-cent mark was passed for May, the stampede of the bears became general and the rush to cover sent the price up 1½ cents from the close Saturday. There was no special news to cause the trouble. Northwest receipts were lighter as expected, while world's shipments were about even with last week. We are bullish on the market, but this advance looks rapid and it might be well to take profits on long wheat, replacing it on any break. The corn market showed somewhat more strength, but it seemed to be derived from the wheat bulge rather than from any other cause. The trading was not heavy and no great interest was displayed. The market hardly promises more than a scalping deal at present. The oat market remains very narrow with trading light and no special comment can be made on it. Looks as if it might be bought on a scale down and sold on any bulge. The market opened strong with a good bulge over Saturday, but at the high prices the usual selling by packing interests developed and the market lost about all the advance. It looks as if the market might do better a little later on. Floyd, Crawford & Co.
